KEY PURPOSE

To ensure that the garden and related policies of Greenbank Garden & Estate are managed and maintained as a nationally recognized garden of outstanding historical and horticultural importance; contributing to the property's overall conservation and development, and its enjoyment by visitors and supporters. The role will also cover various other Glasgow Cluster gardens.

The role of 'Gardener' as a key member of the Greenbank team (and wider Glasgow Cluster), will be heavily involved in the care and maintenance of the garden and wider designed landscape, with future projects aimed at creating gardens of international significance. Hence this post will be vital to realize this ambition of the gardens as a top visitor attraction.

CONTEXT

Originally utilised as a Garden Advice Centre, Greenbank Garden is now managed as a garden to enthuse and inspire gardeners and non-gardeners alike whilst also performing a regionally significant function testing the suitability of plants for the Scottish climate. Greenbank Garden is compartmentalised on a domestic scale which allows the Trust to show the public how readily available plants can be used in their gardens. This is not a garden showing rare or expensive plants beyond the realms of the general public. It is a garden of relevance to all with an interest in horticulture regardless of budget, experience or size of garden.

That is not to say Greenbank Garden does not have plants of significance. It has nationally significant collections of Bergénias and Narcissi. The plant collection as a whole is also of regional significance due to its diversity. The plant collection is also very well catalogued and this adds further to its significance.

The Garden contains a number of features of note which add to the beauty and interest of the garden. The water statue 'Foam' was gifted to the Trust in 1983 by Charles D'Orville Pilkington Jackson. It was originally created for the Glasgow Empire Exhibition in 1938. Today this water sprite statue is perhaps one of Greenbank's most treasured features. The sundial found in the garden is also of some local significance and is thought to predate Greenbank House.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

The Key Purposes of the job will be met by:

1. Undertaking practical maintenance of the garden (e.g. managing trees and shrubs, herbaceous plants, and bulbs; turf care; pest/disease/weed control; staking, plant nutrition, composting and soil improvement to the required standards expected by the Trust and for the maximum safety of, and enjoyment by visitors including other professionals in the horticultural industry;
2. Demonstrating: self-motivation, organisation, planning, prioritisation, good time management and attention to detail;
3. On occasion, supervising and working with volunteers and/or staff members to ensure they deliver required outputs at the appropriate standard, and gain benefit/satisfaction from their activities;
